

tion." Mr. Lincoln said he was of the same opinion himself, and that he had prepared an eminently satisfactory explanation, which he would then proceed to read for them. It covered six mortal pages of foolscap. "What do you think of that?" said the President, when the reading was over. "Does it cover the points?" The conservative gentlemen were puzzled, but polite; they thought "it covered the points admirably." "Would it be satisfactory?" "Completely so, to every intelligent mind." Mr. Lincoln laughed. "My good friends," he exclaimed, "that explanation of mine is satisfactory because it explains nothing, and does not even touch any of the important points in controversy. I will read it to all who come to grumble with me, as you have done, but will not publish it, to avoid the less partial criticism of the press." It was thus the great national humorist of the White House secured deliverance from the "To whom it may concern" imbroglio; and in like manner we prophesy that he will find means to extricate himself from the Chief Justiceship embarrassment. He will give the office, in the end, to Mr. Stanton, and write an "explanation" to Mr. Chase, "eminently satisfactory, but explaining nothing." The people who buy Mr. Lincoln for a fool will be a long time waiting for a profitable return on their investment.

The Abolition Press Exciting Religious Discords.

The abolition papers are endeavoring to create a bad feeling against the Catholic portion of our fellow-citizens, and are indulging in very disreputable comments upon the clergy of that Church upon the senseless grounds that a large majority of the voters in this city gave their voice for General McClellan at the late election, who is a Protestant, and that a considerable portion of that majority was comprised of citizens professing the Catholic faith. These journals have been trying to excite popular prejudice among the people of our country against the Catholic portion of our community since the election, and with a vindictive spirit, which looks as if they designed to provoke a religious crusade. The miserable and deluded fanatics who control such papers as the Tribune, the Independent and the Liberator ought to have lived in the thirteenth century rather than in the nineteenth. They belong more to the age in which men and women were sacrificed at the stake for their religious opinions in Smithfield and in Geneva than to the present era of tolerance and Christian charity. Perhaps if they had acted in politics more like the Catholic clergy they would reflect more credit upon the civilization of our day, would be more respected by all classes of the people, and would, no doubt, be regarded with higher favor by the Almighty, whom they assume to serve.

Time after time this class has made assaults upon the free action of the public, dictating to them, in their temperance laws and other absurd innovations, what they shall drink and eat, how and when they shall worship, regulating according to their own dicta all the modes and habits of life to suit their wild and fanatic notions. Weak, wandering and befogged as they are, these fanatics, animated by a spirit antagonistic to every settled principle, make war upon conservative ideas wherever they manifest themselves. They would insist that the whole community must go mad upon their own peculiar delusion, or else it shall be consigned to eternal torments.

Thus it is that they are now engaged in a vulgar assault upon the gentlemen who comprise the ecclesiastical orders of the Catholic Church, because they do not happen to accord with their views; a body of men who have certainly never obtruded themselves in politics; never defiled their calling so far as to make it the agent of partisanship; but have kept to mind always that their mission was to cure the souls of men, not to intermeddle with their political concerns.

If these fanatical editors would but endeavor to rival or imitate the spirit of Archbishop Purcell's address, how much better and more loyal citizens they would be. "It is time," says Dr. Purcell, "now that the election is past, that all should return to their sober second thought, and that we should rally round the constituted authorities, the 'powers' which the apostle commands us to obey, and thus presenting an undivided front to the enemy, re-establish the Union, without which there can be no panacea, present or prospective, for the ills we suffer. The South beholding us of one mind will, we devoutly trust, hasten to make peace, and we, on our side, will show them that we are ready and willing to make greater sacrifices for peace and union with them than ever we made for war."

There is a lesson in these noble sentiments which the would-be guides of the people—Greeley, Beecher, Cheever and the rest—might study to advantage. They would be much better employed in putting them into practice than in provoking strife between sects, as they have already done between sections.

THE SUPREME COURT.
Justice Chas. of the United States Supreme Court, writes hither from Nashville, stating that he will not be able to be in this city at the opening of the Court in the center.

LEAVING COTTON PLANTATIONS.
The South Carolina Tax Commissioners will commence leaving cotton plantations for the coming year, at Hilton Head, on the 4th of December.

SETTLEMENT OF OREGON LAND CLAIMS.
A large mass of donation certificates, with the evidence of title for actual settlement of claims in Oregon, has just reached the General Land Office, those issued in the month of September, at Roseburg, Oregon, covering twenty thousand three hundred and twenty-eight acres. The fees paid the register and recorder, under the law for issuing these certificates, amounted to six hundred and fifteen dollars.

REPORTING OF THE OTHER TRADE IN THE HAPPAHANNOCK.
The Happaannock river was visited by vessel vessels last week, for the first time since the war. They are preparing to reopen their business for the season along that portion of the Virginia shore, no rebel having appeared in that vicinity for a long period.

CAPTURE OF A BLOCKADE RUNNER.
The Navy Department is advised that the rebel schooner Badger, from St. Marks, bound to Havana, was taken possession of by the steamer Adela on the 10th inst., off the middle entrance of St. George's Sound, Florida. Twenty-five packages of cotton were captured with the vessel, the captain of which threw his papers overboard.

The Steamer Eastern Queen Ashore.

Establishment of a military despotism. Every city, every town, every village is a military post, and has its knot of officers, averaging from two to six in number, and its squad of men, from twenty to a hundred. The ostensible purpose of these posts is that they are for the commissary and quartermaster's departments, to get supplies and material for the army; but they in reality enforce the merciless conscriptions of Jeff. Davis, scrutinize the errands of travellers, and keep the people "patriotic." Thus two-thirds of the Southern soldiers are employed to keep the Southern people quiet, and one-third to fight the Northern armies.

HOWELL COBB ON THE RAMPART—SHERMAN IN DANGER.
That great Southern hero, General Howell Cobb, has taken the field once more. It behooves Sherman to look to his laurels, and even to his life, for Cobb is a very desperate fellow. Cobb, it will be remembered, was too great a general to remain in the rebel armies, and was permitted to retire to Georgia. In that State he has been handy on several occasions when the militia was called out; and, as the militia has just been called out for the three hundredth time, Cobb, of course, is out too. We have not yet received the patriotic speech that he made as he mounted his war horse, but the Augusta Chronicle tells of his achievements. On the 16th instant Cobb, with eleven thousand militia, attacked Sherman's army between Atlanta and Macon, and at last accounts was "steadily driving it." This, of course, is a mere bagatelle for Cobb; but if he keeps on with his eleven thousand militia we tremble to think of what may happen to Sherman and his sixty thousand veteran infantry.

How Is It?—Looking over the returns of the republican vote in the various counties of our State, we find that poor old Greeley runs from five to twenty votes behind his ticket in every county. Shall this difference be taken as a fair estimate of the Weed strength, pure and simple, in every county? The Greeley men say it is to be so taken. The Weed men say it is not. Who shall decide when these big doctors in the republican church thus disagree?

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22, 1864.

REPORTED EVACUATION OF PETERSBURG.
Parties arriving here to-day from City Point again report the evacuation of Petersburg. No confirmation of the rumor has been received by the War Department, and officials assign the movement of troops from Petersburg to the north side of the James, in accordance with the ideas of late Richmond papers that Grant was preparing for a move in that direction, as the origin of the rumor.

THE QUERRILLAS BECOMING TRULIQUERES.
The guerrillas have become very numerous in the vicinity of Fredericksburg and on the banks of the Upper Rappahannock.

THE RECONSTRUCTION OF THE CABINET—THE VACANT INDIANA JUDGESHIP.
The friends of Judge Taber, of the Interior Department, state that he is not a candidate for the vacant Judgeship in Indiana, and does not desire to go upon the bench, and that in the reconstruction of the Cabinet there is no probability of a change in that department. Judge Taber has administered the duties of the office with much success, and the satisfaction of the President, and it is doubtful whether a change would be for the better.

THE APPROACHING SESSION OF CONGRESS—REVISION OF THE REVENUE LAWS.
A number of members of Congress have already arrived here, and the canvassing of measures which will engage the attention of Congress immediately after the commencement of the session has already commenced. The most important of these are those relative to the revenue and taxation. A thorough revision of the revenue laws is considered to be essential, in order that the amount collected may bear a greater proportion to the expenditures. It is believed that at least a hundred and fifty millions additional revenue may be obtained without unduly burdening the people. Other important measures will engage the attention of Congress, and the session, although short, will be a very busy one.

GENERAL Egan's CONDITION.
General Egan's wound has proved to be more serious than was at first supposed. The ball passed between the bones of the arm. Soon after he reached Washington he was taken to the hospital, and the surgeons are hopeful that the danger is over. He will be taken to New York as soon as he is able to travel.

OFFICE HOURS IN THE TREASURY DEPARTMENT.
The Secretary of the Treasury has sent to the heads of the several bureaus of his department a circular requiring the office hours, from nine o'clock in the morning to four o'clock in the afternoon, to be strictly observed, the intervening time to be devoted diligently to labor. This action on the part of the Secretary is a correct irregularity which he has noticed with regret. The Secretary says he has been much annoyed by applications for appointments, founded on statements made by clerks and others, that there were vacancies to be filled, and designating those vacancies. He therefore gives notice that it is no part of the duty of clerks or others in the department to give information or advice on such points. All vacancies are reported to the Assistant Secretary, and will be filled as the Secretary may determine. He will regard any further interference of this character as sufficient cause for dismissal. While stating these grounds of complaint, the Secretary cheerfully bears testimony to the promptness and faithfulness with which, as a general rule, the business of the department has been conducted.

THE COURT OF CLAIMS.
The United States Court of Claims was opened yesterday, and adjourned over to December. Only Judge (Loring) was present. Judge Peck is sick, and Judges Coker, Hughes and Wilcox are absent from the city.
